HAWTHORNE'S CLOSING WEEK.

Hawthorne's card was a strong one and the crowd was larger than any known of a Monday the present season. The twenty-seven bookmakers, however, had but little to do. The day was warm with easterly winds, which threatened all afternoon to blow up a rain. The track was excellent.

Ach, about the best backed horse in the first race bar the favorite, Canace, acted badly and destroyed his chance at the post. Ellis flogged him unmercifully, but could not get him straight. Arthur McKnight got off in front to a good start and was not caught until the last sixteenth, where Our Nellie, always as good as third, came on and won the race in a driving finish of six from Andes, who shot up on the rail, attended by Falomacita. Arthur McKnight just beat Canace, who had been interfered with and forced to go the long road, for the third money, while Rio Chico was close up. Silver Tone showed third a quarter from home.

Those who fancied Jolly Roger would have a chance in the highest class racing in the west had the satisfaction of getting a long price in the second race, this colt, now trained by Knuch Wishard, opening at 6 to 1, while Espionage was held at evens, Miss Marion at 2 to 1. The prices lengthened to 6 to 5 Espionage, 3 to 1 Miss Marion, while Jolly Roger receded to 5 to 1. As the horses cantered to the post a heavy shower came up accompanied with a strong wind, which blew the water into the grandstand. The darkness lifted as the horses left the post and the race was run with only a few raindrops falling. Miss Marion went out as the barrier arose and led all the way, opening a gap of several lengths on the upper turn and winning as she pleased. Espionage was second nearly all the way, Jolly Roger third, but driving home the last named had Espionage beaten seventy-five yards out, but Paul Griggs coming from behind ran second, forcing Jolly Roger into third place. Victor Sum, a newcomer, was somewhere up the stretch, but all the others were well up. It was asking a great deal of Espionage to expect her to give away eight pounds to both Miss Marion and Jolly Roger. As these ran at even weights, the Vetter colt might have been third had he started in the Stallion Stakes.

While book was being made for the third race a real storm broke and flooded the course. The wind was of strength sufficient to scare weak folk and darkness prevailed, rendering necessary the use of arc lights. There was a single flash of lightning, one peal of thunder, then the air cooled out and the rain turned into a drizzle as the third race was run. The track had become sloppy. Plantain and Dare II. raced in front, Don Quixote and The Devil paired, two lengths back, for three-quarters. Here The Devil made a move and passed Dare II., but could not get Plantain, who ran second into the homestretch to Don Quixote. The favorite had on the far turn gone to the front easily on the outside, and he led from thence to the wire, winning hand ridden from The Devil. Plantain quit and was beaten by Dare II. Al Fresco was within four lengths of the leaders at the first quarter, but ever after lost ground, while Forte was never within gunshot.

The rain had ceased when the bugle blew for the fourth race. Some bookmakers said that money was placed on Elusive at the opening price of 4 to 5, while others maintained that the horse was always to be had at 3 to 1. J. J. Carroll at one stage of the betting laid even money Elusive to show. There was nothing in the running of Elusive to indicate what the signs of the betting ring appeared to show, as he was second into the homestretch and whipped out, was in the close bunch of five at the finish. Sutton was the only starter with no chance to win at the far turn and he was away back all the way. The race had been one of various tips, and the only horse not supported was John Rodegag's Bishop Reed. This animal, for a few moments returning to his clip as a yearling, led all the way and was going easily at the finish. As good as 25, 8 and 3 to 1 was the post price and the pencilers were happy, as the cashiers paid the few pikers large wads of aces and deuces. Moncreith was second up the backstretch, but lost some ground on the turn, finally landing second by a neck from Double Dummy, he lapped by Tranby and Elusive. Lynch, who rode the winner, is a boy well known at New Orleans and has won many good races. That he was a stranger at Hawthorne largely accounts for the long price against Bishop Reed.

Moxley rode Populist through the field and 6 to 5 was the horse's price because people said "Maybe the boy is not as good as Hugston." The last named jockey was to have ridden Arrezzo and when this horse was scratched he told his friends that Populist would win to a certainty and a plunge resulted which sent the price down to 4 to 5. Corrigan's Schreiber took command and as over this and that fence he flew with head high in air, and Populist gradually lost ground, the backers of the leader became jubilant. At the water jump on the first round Schreiber was four lengths better than the Canadian while the others were eight to twelve lengths further back and already beaten. Around the turn by the judges stand and up the backstretch Schreiber still further increased his lead, and Populist was gaining on the others. Over the water jump the second time Populist, six lengths to the bad was nibbling along under a pull, his mouth being slightly open. Moxley did not seem to be in any hurry, and when up the backstretch the favorite closed ground still did he seem to be running without effort. Steadily he lessened the gap and at the fence on the far turn was close to the leader. The upper turn was negotiated with the horses nearly lapped, but Schreiber was not yet done, and the pair jumped into the homestretch side and side, to the delight of every one. Then the race was over, Populist winning in his quiet unassuming gallop by several lengths, never having been extended. Marble and the others jumped together over the water the last time, and had a merry race home. Marble, third, was forty lengths behind Schreiber.

Judge Steadman and Parole d'Or delayed the start, but the barrier shot up to a splendid start for all but Belvadell, who at once ran to the bunch. At the quarter Gold Band, Parole d'Or, Basquil and Greyhurst was the order; at the half Greyhurst was leading from Gold Band, Judge Steadman next and a close bunch for all except Belvadell and Briggs, a pair which eventually finished up at the sixteenth. The horses were all within striking distance at the upper turn with the exceptions named and Count Fonso, who, lengths away, seemed to have met with an accident. Greyhurst and Gold Band were having it hot and heavy at the last sixteenth. Inconstancy close up, when rushing through the bunch came J. McDonald with Count Fonso and in a driving finish, Holden, who looked to be falling off fifty yards from the wire, got Gold Band's head in front of Count Fonso, who beat Greyhurst a throat latch. Inconstancy was a close fourth. Basquil was heavily backed, just why it is not possible to state.

Horsemen say that the disbarment of Jolly Roger for the Stallion Stakes was entirely in line with the racing rules. Here is the statement: The colt was nominated for the Stallion Stakes by John E. Madden at Louisville last spring. He was bought out of a selling race in which he was entered by H. T. Griffin and went into the hands of W. J. Donohue. The latter raced him at Washington Park in his colors, and during the meeting it was said Jolly Roger became the property of J. A. Vetter, a gentleman reputed to live in Louisville, but a man that has never shown up at the Chicago tracks. Donohue had the reputation of having owned one-half of the colt, and this interest he sold to Vetter, who already owned the other half. The rule is that when a horse is sold his engagements must be transferred. In the case of Jolly Roger this was neglected. H. T. Griffin came to Chicago and said the colt could start. With this matter Griffin had nothing to do, as J. E. Madden was the nominator. The Hawthorne officials heard nothing from Madden and so declared the colt ineligible. That Washington Park and Harlem allowed Jolly Roger to start in stakes was correct, but such action had nothing to do with the eligibility of the horse for the Stallion Stakes, as when Jolly Roger was entered at the other Chicago tracks, it was regularly done by either Donohue, Vetter or their representatives.

AT HARLEM NEXT WEEK.

If weather and track conditions are suitable Mr. Harness' flying wonder, Imp, will try next week to wipe out the mile record of 1:38½, made by Libertine over the Harlem track in 1894, it being the record for a circular mile track. Imp has given evidence that she is equal to the task, any horse in the country is. At Washington Park with 118 pounds up she led the first mile in the Oakwood in 1:39½, and again, when she beat Macy at 1½ miles in 1:51½, she carried 112 pounds and made the first mile in 1:38½. She is to carry but 91 pounds in her trial and have a speedy helper at each quarter. The light weight will be very much in her favor, yet it is no sure thing that she will wipe out that marvelously fast record of Libertine. It is not that she may not possess the speed capacity to do so under favorable circumstances, but that it is so difficult to point a horse to go to the extreme limit of its speed on a prearranged day. Secretary Nathanson has set the race for Wednesday, October 19, and it will be one of the main features of Jubilee Week.

The Harlem officials are naturally counting on an increased attendance next week, because of the jubilee festivities, and will present other exceptionally pleasing attractions besides Imp's race against time. The Columbia Stakes at two and one-eighth miles will be decided Tuesday. It has $1,500 added and a number of stayers are being quietly prepared for the long trip. Charley Christy, Frank Jaubert, Bing Binger, Paul Kauvar, Croesus and Forte are set down as sure to start, if all goes well with them in training, while Midian, Muskalonge, Boanerges and Elusive are on the list of possible additional starters. The Cicero Stakes, a selling affair, at a mile, with $1,000 added, will be pulled off Saturday. It has thirty-eight speedy ones nominated and is bound to furnish an interesting contest.

THE CASE OF JOLLY ROGER.

Under an interpretation of the rules the colt Jolly Roger was not permitted to start for the Stallion Stakes at Hawthorne last Saturday. This feature of the race has been commented upon in spiteful and unfair terms by writers hostile to the track management. The officials who decided the case make the following presentation of their ground of action:

"In declaring the colt, Jolly Roger ineligible for the 'Stallion Stakes' owing to his having been claimed out of a selling race, the judges simply did so in accordance with the rules governing same.

"Previous to the years 1895 or 1893, the rule read: 'Engagements do not go with a horse bought or claimed out of a selling race, except with the written consent of the owner.' The rule was amended subsequently, and the privilege of transferring the engagement by the owner was annulled.

"The intent of the amended rule was, that with the sale or claim as above, all engagements became null and void; that owners virtually made a conditional declaration, when they entered a horse having stake engagements in a selling race. Should it become necessary, however, 'in case of an appeal' in any future event there will be no trouble to prove the above interpretation by members of the congress present at the meeting, when the rule in question was changed.

"Forfeits in any case follow the horse, and it only looks equitable the engagements should either go with the horse or else become null and void. Were the owner to retain the power of transfer he virtually retains a mortgage on the horse, and gives the purchaser, or claimant, in a selling race, no power to prevent the accumulation of forfeits.

THE CASE OF JOLLY ROGER.

"In the 'case of Jolly Roger,' the former and present owners of the colt, got together, and in consideration of the transfer of the engagement, Mr. Griffin, the former owner, was to get 25 per cent. of the stakes, if the colt won."

MR. CORRIGAN DISABLED.

Edward Corrigan may have cause to long remember, in an unpleasant way, the day of the Stallion Stakes. Resting easily in a big arm chair in a room at the Great Northern Hotel, he last evening, wrapped in a blanket and attired in a negligee shirt, told the story of the accident which has for the time being disabled him.

"We were late," said he, "in leaving the city for the track. Sam Ecker—you know him, an old-time turfman from St. Louis—and I started from the hotel in my buggy at 1:25 p. m. Of course we were going along some. A man who has but little time is apt to drive fast—maybe covering a mile in three and a half minutes. When between Halsted street and Ashland avenue, on Jackson boulevard, out of a side street came on a bicycle a little old woman (they tell me that grandmothers now ride wheels) that looked to me like a little old setting hen. I pulled out so as to save her life and she ran on ahead of us.

"I had noticed a man driving a heavy side bar buggy on the left and quite a bit ahead, and now we had nearly come abreast of him. This man pulled over to the right (my position was near the right curbstone) and there was nothing left for me to do but to run into him or kill the old lady. So into him I went. Hurt him? I guess so, as he was picked up unconscious. My left wheel ran over his right hind one and along we tilted and jolted striking the ground all together about thirty-five feet from where the collision occurred. I fell underneath Ecker, who weighs over 200 pounds, and down came the buggy-wheels up on top of us. The horse stopped in going twelve feet. Did anyone catch him? I should say no! I had hold of the reins, one in each hand, and with me pulling and the weight of the whole works on the bit he couldn't be expected to run far could he?

Well, the first thing I heard was, "It's Corrigan," and "Get the horse by the head." Then they lifted off Ecker, (who was knocked senseless) and the balance of my load. And do you know, it seemed as if I would never get free. I was conscious but couldn't speak or move hand or foot. Finally they got me on to the curb and a lady gave me a cup of water which revived me. When Sam came to me, compared notes and finding no bones broken, he called a carriage and went to the racetrack. Sam had his leg and his arm cut but we took a stiff horn of liquor and both stayed out the afternoon. When we reached town, my left leg was stiff and sore. Sam went home, and leaving me said, 'Ed, I'll see you in the morning.' I laughed as well as I could. (There! I got the worst of it just then.) Mr. Corrigan had coughed and the effort set him writhing, and said, "No! Sam, I guess you won't get around for a few days, no more than shall. Thea I went to my room and here I am apt to stick for a few days."

The injured horseman cannot use his right arm and said that his ribs on the right side all feel as if they were alive every time he stirs. He said that in all his experience he never before was thrown from a buggy and injured and wound up with, "I wish they would keep old ladies from riding bicycles."

Ray B. came with a rush at the end. It was close for second place.
Scratched—Trimuda, 108; Agatha, 110.

Winner—B. f. by Siddartha—Lady Nell.
Post 9 minutes. Start good. Won driven out. The next four were under full sail. Our Nellie was lucky to win. She was off flying, took the short route and always had a clear path. With the same sort of racing luck Andes could not have lost. He was in a jam when the barrier arose and was bumped and jostled throughout. Arthur McKnight showed a rare turn of speed. He was stopping badly though at the end. Canace seemed to bear out in the stretch. Silver Tone stopped badly after going less than a quarter. Ach caused the delay. Good Hope cut her foot and was bleeding after the race.

Scratched—Nailer, 105; Stamina, 112; La Juanita, 103; Josephine B, 107; Nora C, 105.

Overweights—Irish, 3 pounds.
Our Nellie, place, 5 to 1; show, 2 to 1. Andes, place, 2 to 1; show, even; Arthur McKnight, show, 6 to 1.

8948 SECOND RACE—3-4 Mile. All Ages. Allowances.

Winner—B. f. by Himyar—Astolat.
Post 5 minutes. Start fair. Won cleverly. The next three were driving. Miss Marion was the best and had a world of speed. She was a better filly today than she was Saturday and with the weight off was a good betting proposition. Paul Griggs seemed to sulk the first part of the journey but was running great guns at the finish. He is rounding to and deserves keen attention from now on. Jolly Roger stopped and came again in the stretch. Tulla Fonso never showed any speed. Espionage ran below her mark. Just after the horses went to the post a heavy rain storm came up. Bloss said it cooled Espionage in an instant causing the filly to cord up; this explains her race.

Scratched—Belle of Memphis, 121; Pat Cleburne, 106; Czarowitz, 123.

Overweights—Fontainebleu, 14 pounds.
Miss Marion, place, even; show, 1 to 2. Paul Griggs, place, 5 to 1; show, 2 to 1. Jolly Roger, show, 7 to 10.

8949 THIRD RACE—1 1-4 Miles. 3-year-olds and upward. Allowances.
Purse $500; value to winner $400; $75 to second; $25 to third.

Winner—B. c. by Charaxus—Ethie.
Post 5 minutes. Start good. Won in a gallop; second whipped out. Don Quixote played with his field. He galloped under a stout pull the entire journey. There never was a spot in the road when he did not seem able to go to the front. This is a good colt, and especially good in the mud. The Devil is an honest performer. He was right there and fighting for the money at the eighth post. Dare II weakened badly at the end. He looked very dangerous on the far turn. Plantain was short on speed. So were both Forte and Al Fresco. The latter seems to be of little or no account just now.

Scratched—Sardonic, 103.

Overweights—Don Quixote, 2 pounds.
The Devil, place, 9 to 10; show, 1 to 2. Dare II., show, 4 to 5.

Time, 1:34, 26, 53, 1:16, 1:47, 1:55.

Winner—B. c. by Bishop—Octa Reed.
Post 1 minute. Start fair. Won hand ridden. The next three were driving hard. Bishop Reed seemed to like the going and the way the race was run was the best. This colt has been off all season but seems to be rounding to and may be able to beat better ones. Moncreith ran a fair sort of race but pulled up quite lame. Double Dummy is game and stood a hard drive from the three-eighths post home. Elusive seemed to be going well in hand on the turn for home but quit when the pinch came. She does better on a fast track. Sutton must have sulked. He was beaten off all the way.

Scratched—David Tenny, 108; Pitfall, 107; Alvarado II, 102; Teutonna, 102.

Bishop Reed, place, 8 to 1; show, 3 to 1. Moncreith, place, 7 to 10; show, 2 to 5. Double Dummy, show, 2 to 5.

Time 3:27.

Winner—B. g. by Bersan—Pun.
Off at first break to a good start. Won easily at the end after an early drive; second whipped out; third eased. Populist is a crackerjack at this game. He handled his weight cleverly and simply outstayed Schreiber. The latter is the better fencer of the two, but seems to lack stamina. He looked all over a winner after three-quarters of the journey had been traversed. Marble seemed short on speed. He is a good hurdler and probably was raced for the purpose of getting weight off. There was considerable bumping between the first two after they took the last obstruction. There was no claim of foul made, however, and nothing was said about the interference.

Scratched—Troil, 133; Arrezzo, 137.

Overweights—Orderly, 44 pounds.
Populist, place, 1 to 3; Schreiber, place, 1 to 2; Marble, show, 3 to 2.

Time, 27, 54, 1:07, 1:21, 1:49, 1:55.

Winner—B. f. by Ben d'Or—Essay.

Post 8 minutes. Start good. Won driving to the limit; second and third also hard at it. Gold Band was the best and displayed rare gameness in winning. She stopped once in the stretch, but under punishment came again. Count Fonso ran a clever race. He was shut off and badly interfered with on the first turn. Greyhurst had speed, but weakened under punishment the last furlong. Basquil would have been closer up but for bad racing luck. He was jammed in on the rail shortly after the start and almost fell.

Scratched—Bridgeton, 107.

Overweights—Count Fonso, 3 pounds.

Gold Band, place, 6 to 5; show, 1 to 2. Count Fonso, place, 2 to 1; show, even. Greyhurst, show, 8 to 5.
